HOBSON BEFORE THE COMMIT-TEE.

Mr. Lilley yesterday while before the House investigating committee was requested to furnish the committee with names in substantiation of certain assections contained in his sworn statement making certain charges in connection with the purchase of sub-marines by the government. This he promptly did. He said that Franklin H. Taylor and John T. Keilogg, of Waterbury, Ocen., and Charles Ferry, of Bridge-post, had asked him to vote for an appropriation for submarine boats. But the sensation came when Mr. Lilley deciared that one of his colleagues on the naval affairs committee had been approached by a representative of the Electric Boat Company.

"Who was the Congressman who was told by a representative of the Electric Boat Company that the company could have him put on the naval committer"" Mr. Lilley was asked. "Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson," was the reply.

"Who told him?" was then asked.

"Captain Hobson will tell you that.
Ask him," responded Mr. Lilley.
Representative Hobson was called before the committee, and after being sworn was interrogated in connection with the statements which bad just been made by Mr. Lilley. Mr. Hobson corroborated the statements so far as they mentioned him by telling the committee that he had been told by a representative of the Electric Boat Company that influence would be brought bear to secure the appointment of Mr. Hobson to the naval committee it he would favor submarine legislation. He was directed to state the details of Mr. Hobson told the committee that he person who had made this propos tion to him is Mr. Lawrence Y. Spear, a former censtructor in the United States navy, who is now connected with the E ctric Boat Company, Mr. Hobson said hat be and Mr. Spear had been casemates at the United States Naval Acsdemy together me years ago. Last November, Mr. Hot son said, Mr. Spea told him that influence would be used to get him a place on the House naval comnittee if he was 'ail right' on submarines. Mr. Hobson said that he himself was ill at the time and that Mr. Spear first celled upon Mr. Hobson's private storet ry about the matter of arrangin; an appointment with Mr. Hotson. Nothing came of that. According to Mr. Hobson's restimony, Mr. Spear then wrote a letter to him, in which he said be wanted to see Hobson on a matter that would be of interest to them both. Mr. Hobson said that he did not see Spear, and that the latter then called him any mar the telephone and told him that it or was all right on submarines he (Spear) would use his influence to get mm (Hobson) a place on the naval committee. Mr. Flobson said he repudiated he idea of such a thing being done or a complete.

Mr. Hobson did not at first tell the committee with whom this "influence" was to have been used. But the committee pressed him for details, Mr. Hobson, who was reluctant about dragging in the name of the Speaker, stated. o response to a direct question, that Mc. Spear had told him that the influence was to be used with Speaker Cannon.
Friend of the Speaker later in the day declared that, if Mr. Spear used the name of Mr. Cannon in the telephone conversation with Mr. Hobson, it was done without the Speaker's authority. The testimony of Mr. Hobson has created a servation in congressional cir-It is well known that it has been Mr. Hobson's ambition ever since he was elected to Congress for a position on the

CHILDREN POISONED.

James and Dominick, the seven and five year old sons of Salvatore Martina, Joseph, the six-year-old son o Frank Bucolo, all living in the same house at Norwood, N. J., died during Wednesday night after eating a quantity of the bulb of what is commonly called "skunk cabbage." Two other children were affected, but were saved by doses of an emetic administered by their frantic mother. James Morrello, aged eight, was one of those who narrowly escaped death.

The children returned home from school about 4 o'clock and started to play in the front yard. One of them found a bulb just budding forth from the ground, and, becoming curious, the children dug up the roots, and they were cut up and divided among the five.

The little ones seemed to erjoy the bitter taste, and the poisonous bulbs soon disappeared. Two hours later all of them complained of severe pains in the stomach. They began to vomit, and then came signs of collapse. The parents worked over them, but there was no response, and Dr. Ward, of Closter, was summoned. He reached the house just after Dominick Martina died. other two were unconscious, and died within ten minutes of each other, despite Dr. Ward's efforts.
